

Court of Atonement®

How to call a Full Court of Atonement

The Court of Atonement is a spiritual healing modality based on the principle that our souls are much more expansive than we are and that our souls can be in many places at once.

Our souls remain neutral. Even when we are fighting with others, our souls remain free of all the negative emotions of the human condition.

Using the Full Court of Atonement, we are requesting that the souls meet in a sacred space and discuss the problems between them. Once the soul understands why things happen, the relief will soon be felt in our nervous system, and things that used to be upsetting to us stop triggering a response from us.

Below is a simple explanation of the five steps to using the Full Court of Atonement.

1. Always start with your name.

Our names are the power generator that gives us access to the Full Court of Atonement. Without using the name, it will not work! Our names are mandatory every time!

2. Say the words “Full Court of Atonement!”

We have to say the words “Full Court of Atonement” each time we intend to use it. You must ask for what you want in life, never assume that God, divinity, the angels, or even the Full Court of Atonement, understand what you are requesting. Spell it out in easy-to-understand words and stay positive.

3. Name the target.

The target is who or what you want to resolve. Who are you bringing in? Think about the person you intend to work with and use as much of their name as you can.

If you do not know their name, describe your connection to the person just as you would describe them to a friend. “I bring in the person I met at the party at my sister’s house.” “The guy who stole my jacket.” “My sister’s brother-in-law”

To strengthen the connection, try looking at a person's photo while you make the statement. A photo is the strongest energy connection outside of looking right at a person. (I like to use social media to gain access to photos of people.)

4. State what you are asking for.

A. "I ask to resolve all conflicts between us." B. "For the purpose of earning more money."

5. Request desired outcome

Request your desired outcome in the most positive wording you can muster.

"I ask to have our timelines analyzed and correct all conflicts between us." "I ask to create compatibility and camaraderie between us."

"I ask for divine intervention, and divine right actions for the highest and best results ask us to make amends. I ask for positive resolution of this situation.

Simple Outline

1. I, _____ place myself, _____
2. Into a Full Court of Atonement
3. I bring in, _____
4. For the purpose of, _____
5. I ask for positive resolution. (Or I ask for, _____.)

BASIC STATEMENT:

I, _____ place myself, _____ into a Full Court of Atonement with, _____ I ask to have our timelines analyzed. I ask to correct any and all conflicts between us at their points of origin.

Next is the wording to resolve a conflict between other people.

I, _____ place, _____ into a Full Court of Atonement with, _____. I ask to have their timelines analyzed. I ask to correct any and all conflicts between them at their points of origin.

You can add as many people as you like.

You can make the statements one after the other. You do not need to wait.

You only need to say a Full Court of Atonement once, but you may say it as often as you like.

Having a strong connection to your name is important. There are videos to help get you in alignment on the website www.courtatonement.com